
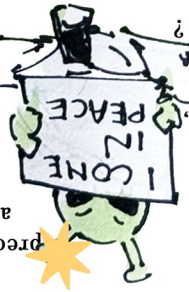
ALIENS?

Strong start to my zine-ing career right? I know it might come off as a crazed conspiracy theorist's irrational ramblings at first glance but bear with me and hear me out— maybe you'll end up developing a fascination for the extra terrestrial as well Naturally, the inaugratory issue of a zine that's been in the works for longer than I'd like to admit had to be on one of my most cherished topics; something I hope would pique the interest of anyone who,like me, often stayed up pondering of our universe even as a young child— fetched as the possibilities of actual encounters with aliens may seem, surely we're not the only ones in the vast span of endless space, right?

Often times I still find myself lost in thought with this great expanse and its many worlds, often than not I've penned these thoughts down in the hopes to create something out of these reveries (comic coming soon btw). Maybe somewhere, some billion light years beyond our world exists another world where large eyed green skinned beings live their lives not so different from our own ?



Liked the short read and/or the art and wanna give your kudos to the creator? Contact me here! applocalypse13@gmail.com Find this zine and more on delhizine.in PS: Send pictures of your plushies for the next volume of this zine! Or just send in your thoughts or art on whatever you feel strongly about, I'd love to see what you've got to share!

Apple Slices

Volume 1